Visual (continued)

- Sectioned spaces for homepage, landing pages with a variety of layouts to differentiate contents
 - unique scrolling experience for readers (bonus?)
- Carousel gallery to fit photos

The Dims website features a variety of layout types:

- Product Grid: Shows a grid of products like a red chair and a small coffee table.
- Designer Profile: Features a photo of two designers holding a large, thin wireframe chair.
- New Arrivals: Displays a row of four Japanese homewares items: a white teapot, a wooden board, a tall vase, and a smaller board.
- Travel Guide: Shows a collage of images from Nara, Japan, including a temple gate and a bowl of Katsu Curry.

- Have photos of products being used practically or placed in a set. This can give readers inspiration on how the pieces can be used to compliment their living rooms, dining tables etc.

The Dims website includes practical product usage examples:

- Rug: Shows a large, colorful rug in a modern living room setting with a sofa and armchairs.
- Chair: Shows a black chair next to a light-colored coffee table in a minimalist room.

The screenshot shows a grid of three design studios on the Dims website. Each studio has a thumbnail image, a title, a brief description, and a 'View Work' button.

Studio	Description	Action
Ladies & Gentlemen Studio Brooklyn, U.S.A.	Based in Brooklyn, Ladies & Gentlemen Studio designs products and spaces imbued with warm minimalism and simple sophistication. Founded by Dylan Davis and Jean Lee, the studio has quietly won acclaim for its multidisciplinary work and collaborated with brands like MUJI and Roll & Hill.	View Work
Stine Aas Oslo, Norway	A native of Norway, Stine Aas has always had a close relationship with nature. The precocious designer is making a name for herself with sophisticated, character-driven work influenced by the organic shapes of her surroundings.	View Work
MSDS Studio Toronto, Canada	The brainchild of Jonathan Sabine and Jessica Nakanishi, MSDS Studio is a Toronto-based design studio known for distinctive yet minimal products that synthesize the duo's Scandinavian and Japanese sensibilities.	View Work

Below the grid, there is a section for 'Composed Vanity II' by Ladies & Gentlemen Studio, featuring a product image, price ($850), and a 'Shop' button. To the right, there are two more products from the same studio: 'Composed Stool' ($195) and 'Composed Trays' ($125), each with a 'Shop' button.

At the bottom left, there is a detailed description of Ladies & Gentlemen Studio, and at the bottom right, a large image of the two founders holding a large, circular, ribbed object.

 - A pop-up cart lets customers access shopping carts while browsing through different parts of the site.
